As per management assessment there are no material uncertainties related to events or conditions which may cast significant doubt upon the Company's ability to continue as a going concern.

2.03 Basis of measurement

The financial statements of the Company have been prepared on historical cost basis unless otherwise specifically mentioned.

2.04 Functional and presentation currency

These financial statements are presented in Bangladeshi Taka (Taka/Tk/BDT) which is both functional currency and presentation currency of the Company. The figures of financial statements have been rounded off to the nearest integer.

2.05 Use of estimates and judgements

The preparation of the financial statements requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the application of accounting policies and the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, income and expenses. The estimates and the associated assumptions are based on various factors that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances, the result of which form the basis of making judgements about the carrying values of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. Actual results may differ from the estimates.

Estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on a going concern basis. Revision to accounting estimates is recognized in the period in which the estimates are revised if the revision affects only that period, or in the period of revision and future periods if the revision affects both current and future periods.

In particular, information about significant areas of estimation uncertainty and critical judgements in applying accounting policies that have significant effect on the amount recognized in the financial statements are described in the following notes:

Note 3.01.03: Depreciation

Furniture & fixtures : 10%

IT equipment:

Computer, printer and UPS : 25%

Office equipment : 10%

Electrical equipment : 10%

3.01.04 Retirements and disposals

An item of property, plant and equipment is derecognized upon disposal or when no future economic benefits are expected to arise from the continued use of the asset. Gain or loss on retirement or disposal is determined by comparing the disposal proceeds with the carrying amount and the net amount is recognized in profit or loss.

3.02 Inventories

Inventories are measured at the lower of cost and net realizable value. Cost of inventories include expenditure incurred in acquiring the inventories, production or conversion costs and other costs incurred in bringing them to their existing location and condition. Cost of inventories is determined by using the specific identification formula. Net realizable value is based on estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business less the estimated costs of completion and the estimated costs necessary to make the sale.

3.03 Financial instruments

A financial instrument is any contract that gives rise to a financial asset of one entity and a financial liability or equity instrument of another entity.

3.03.01 Financial Assets

The Company initially recognizes receivables and deposits on the date they are originated. All other financial assets are recognized initially on the date at which the Company becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the transaction.

The Company derecognizes a financial asset when the contractual rights or probabilities of receiving the cash flows from the asset expire, or it transfers the rights to receive the contractual cash flows on the financial asset in a transaction in which substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of the financial asset are transferred.

Financial assets carried in the balance sheet include:

a) Cash and cash equivalents

Cash comprises cash in hand and cash at bank which are available for use by the Company without any restriction. Cash equivalents are short-term, highly liquid investments that are readily convertible to known amount of cash and which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value.

b) Trade and other receivables

Trade debtors represent the amounts due from customers for sale products and services and comprises billed amounts as at reporting date. Trade debtors are recognized at cost, which is the fair value of consideration for corresponding sales. Amounts are stated net of provision for doubtful debts, if any.
